FROM THE

Pastor's Desk

But Why?

One of the most common questions from children and adults alike starts with "Why..." Why does the sun come up? Why do we have to go to so and so's house? Why did God create the universe? Why is there suffering? Many good questions begin with "why." It shows humanity's innate need to assign meaning to our existence. This is directly related to us being created in the image and likeness of God. A God who "know[s] the plans [He has] for you," declares the Lord, "plans to prosper you and not to harm you, plans to give you hope and a future." (Jeremiah 29:11)

God is infinite; thus, it is impossible for us to understand the why of every situation and contingency due to our limited perspective and finitude. That is not to say we cannot know the why of anything; we can certainly understand many things because of our intellect, a gift from God. However, we cannot know everything, but we can understand that God is all good and all loving via our reason, past experiences, and the testimony of others. Creation, the Scriptures, the Saints, and our own openness to seeing God's goodness in our life shows us that God is good, even if His ways are above our ways. (Isaiah 55:8) This can help us trust in God's goodness during difficult times of doubt, suffering, or confusion. "I will sing of the steadfast love of the LORD, forever; with my mouth I will make known your faithfulness to all generations." (Psalm 89:1)

I certainly have experienced God's goodness over the past two years as pastor of St. Joseph, Pillar of Families. Has it been difficult? Yes. Have there been moments that challenged and provoked me? Absolutely. Did I want to blame others at some points? Yes, but prayer and steadfast friends helped me to see opportunities instead of obstacles. Do I believe God has something better in store for me and all of you? 100%! I am grateful for every experience I have had over the past two years and throughout my entire life. Because "for those who love God all things work together for good." (Romans 8:28) I pray that each of us will maintain such wisdom throughout our life no matter what may come.

Please remember to check the bulletin for our Holy Week schedule. It is the holiest time of year, so do not miss out. Holy Week is the week of our salvation, we walk in real time with our Lord as He works our redemption by His Passion, Death, and Resurrection. May our hearts be truly conformed to the Paschal mystery which is at the center of our Faith.

Thank you to our musicians who have to put in so much preparation for the celebration of Lent, Holy Week, and Easter. May the Lord bless them for the work they put into adding solemnity to our liturgies.

Peace in Christ,

Fr. Jarred Kohn

SEVEN SISTERS APOSTOLATE

Please take a moment to prayerfully consider joining the Seven Sisters Apostolate for our family of parishes. We are in need of a few more dedicated prayerful women to join our apostolate. The Seven Sisters Apostolate is a call to strengthen the Church by ensuring that a Holy Hour is prayed each day of the week for the sole intention of a specific priest or bishop – a "holy wasting" (cf. Mt. 26:10) or lavishing of prayer for his deeper conformity to Christ. The core group of seven women per each priest, commit to a Holy Hour on a distinct day of the week, thus covering a complete week. One hour, one day a week, ideally in the presence of the Blessed Sacrament either during Adoration or in front of a Tabernacle. If you feel called to join the ranks of the 40+ dedicated prayerful women of the St. Joseph, Pillar of Families Seven Sisters Apostolate, contact Barb at barpbblanc@gmail.com or 419-953-1587.

THE VICAR'S CORNER: FR. AARON HESS

One of the most difficult situations a Catholic can be in is when a relative or a close friend who is Catholic chooses to not get married in a Catholic wedding service. I have had numerous people approach me asking what the best decision in that situation would be, and my goal is to walk through this challenge with them.

I think the first point to remember is that marriage is a Sacrament. It is not just a ceremony that recognizes that two people love each other. It's not just a formality, a hoop to jump through. It is a gift given to us by Christ that makes a new reality – the two become one flesh. In Sacramental marriage, a couple is given a gift from God that unites them and then strengthens them in their relationship for the rest of their lives together. It helps them to become better parents of their children. They make a covenant with each other that allows them to be completely open and vulnerable, giving themselves entirely to their spouse. Marriage is an incredible gift that the Lord has given us!

So when a Catholic decides that they will not have a Catholic wedding, what they are ultimately saying is: I reject this gift. I do not want all of these blessings from God, I want to do things my way. It doesn't matter what their reasoning is, whether they want a destination wedding on a beach, or they think it would be more convenient to do everything at the hall, or their fiancé is a different denomination, or they haven't gone to Mass in a long time, or their best friend got an online certificate to marry them, or they don't want to go through marriage prep. In each of these situations, the Catholic is compromising their beliefs or setting them aside to focus on what they want more than what God wants for them. But the biggest issue is that there is not actually a sacrament happening before God, and the couple in truth is not married, even if they start living as such. They begin to live in sin.

And is that something that we should celebrate?

I know that this is a really difficult situation for many people, especially if it is a close family member or a child. But the general norm is that I should not attend a wedding of a Catholic who does not get married in the Catholic Church. If we attend, we are, by our mere presence, celebrating this "union" that is not actually a union. We are celebrating that they have rejected the gifts given to us by God. We are celebrating a lie. And by our witness, or our silence, we can allow other Catholics, including other children or family members or the community at large, to believe that this is okay for them, too.

Again, I emphasize that this is one of the hardest situations a parent, sibling, or friend can face, and that there are a lot of circumstances that can exacerbate the challenge. If this comes up in your own life, I encourage you to talk with a priest, talk with a trusted Catholic friend, to try and understand the best way to make this decision that will lead the couple, your family, and your friends to a deeper appreciation and love of the gift of marriage.

Divine Mercy Sunday Holy Hour 3:00 pm

The Divine Mercy Message and Devotion

The message of The Divine Mercy is simple. It is that God loves us – all of us. And, He wants us to recognize that His mercy is greater than our sins, so that we will call upon Him with trust, receive His mercy, and let it flow through us to others. Thus, all will come to share His joy.

In her Diary, St. Faustina records a special promise given to her by Jesus, He told her to communicate it to the whole world: My daughter, tell the whole world about My inconceivable mercy. I desire that the Feast of Mercy be a refuge and shelter for all souls, and especially for poor sinners. I pour out a whole ocean of graces upon those souls who approach the fount of My mercy (Diary, 699).

Please visit the Divine Mercy display table at the back of church for more information and copies of the Novena at www.thedivinemercy.org.
